

UNDERSTANDING YOUR CHILD'S REPORT CARD (GRADES K-2)

Your child's report card reflects a learning process supported by standards in Rockwood curricula.

As students enter a new grade level, they gain the knowledge, understanding and skills of the curriculum at different rates. Report cards in Rockwood use a four-point system that will inform parents where their child is in this learning process.

DIFFERENTIATION

In our school, we anticipate the differences in students' readiness, differences in their interests, and differences in their learning process. As a result, our teachers create differentiated learning opportunities so students can learn as much as they can, as deeply as they can. It is important that students enjoy their learning with challenging instruction that meets their learning needs.
